3	Dr. Gerhard Reintanz, chief of the Legal Department of the DDR Foreign Ministry, was commissioned about mid-April 1951 to draw up a brief on the basis of the West German Basic Law demonstrating that the proposed communist-inspired popular referendum in Western Germany on the question of remilitarization was legal. Reintanz, after two weeks' study, reported that he was unable to construe a sound legal basis for the referendum out of the document.

7.	The DDR Foreign Ministry became involved in a minor embarrassment on the occasion of the recall of General MacArthur. The interpretation of this recall made at the Foreign Ministry and published in its daily summary of world events was that MacArthur was recalled because of public opinion in the U.S., resulting from his ruthless and cruel prosecution of the Korean War. Shortly after this interpretation was published (for internal government use), the official Tass interpretation was made known, that the recall resulted from MacArthur's weakness and incompetence in prosecuting the war.
